

ABSTRACT

A system and method for sterilizing bottles is provided. The system has structure for producing and introducing a source of liquid sterilizing agents in the form of discrete particles onto the bottle surface to form a thin liquid film thereon. Structure is provided for removing the sterilizing agent from the bottle surface after the desired degree of sterilization is achieved.

[illegible]